(Image credit: Doug Mills-Pool/Getty Images) By the time you read this, U.S. President Donald J. Trump is going to give a 2020 State of the Union address. As is the norm these days, he is going to present his speech in the midst of a chaotic news week that followed the Democrats Iowa Caucus (results are still coming in) and while his own impeachment trial is still ongoing. While we expect the president to take the victory lap to first, he can still frame it as a success as it seems he will not be removed from office. State Union's start timePresident Donald J. Trump's State of the Union address began at 9 .m. Eastern Region | 18 .m. Pacific.Where to watch State of the Union for freeYou can watch via YouTube via the Washington Post, or tune through Locast, a nonprofit distributed broadcast TV. If you have a TV antenna or live service, you can watch the event on major broadcast channels: ABC, CBS, NBC, and PBS. It's also going to be on 24/7 news networks: CNN, Fox, and MSNBC. That means it's on all these networks: FuboTV: 7 day free trial | $55 per month | CBS, NBC, CNN, Fox News, MSNBCHulu with Live TV: 1 week free trial | ABC, CBS, CNN, Fox News, MSNBC, NBCSling: $30 per month (first month is $20) | Blue: CNN, Fox News, MSNBCYouTube TV: 2 week free trial | $50 per month | ABC, CBS, CNN, Fox News, MSNBCAT & T TV Now: 7 Day Free Trial | $65 per month thereafter | ABC, CBS, CNN, Fox News, MSNBC At the peak of its popularity in the late 1980s through the 1990s, the channel's ring setting was beloved for its perfect combination of extra sparkle, extra jewel protection, and a clean, modern look. Today, the channel setting is most often seen in wedding and anniversary bands, but it is still a great option for an engagement ring. The channel setting is the type of ring setting in which the stones on the ring handle are set along the track between two metal walls. The stones are nested against each other and are not separated by twigs, beads or oblique edible pheasers. Michela Buttignol/Brides Channel made the ring more profitable, says Los Angeles-based jeweler Corina Madilian. You can hide variations in the size of diamonds, and you do not have to set each stone separately. This lowers prices. Meet the Expert After years running the property and vintage jewelry showroom, Los Angeles jeweler Corina Madilian founded Single Stone with her husband Ari in 2004. Their designs are designed entirely in downtown Los Angeles jewelry district and are featured in What's What To Wear, Town & Country, and Harper's Bazaar. Since the metal walls on the handle fully cover the diamond's fragile belt, the channel setting is also more protective than pavé or beads that are bands. The channel set group is also less likely to snag clothing. The biggest channel in the ring is how quickly it collects dirt. When dirt or lotion becomes between stones, it can take the sparkle away pretty quickly, says Madilian. i don't want to let anything accumulate. Fortunately, cleaning the channel in the ring is a breeze. The easiest thing to do is boil a little water, take it off the stove, add some clear detergent, and let the ring sit a bit, Madilian explains. Let the hot water dissolve whatever is between the stones, then use the old toothbrush to gently wipe off all the residue. Rinse it, and then you're done. The outdoor channel is a cable channel that focuses its programming shows on hunting, fishing, shooting, off-road and adventure topics. While the Outdoor Channel comes standard in most cable packages, some people don't get the Outdoor Channel. If you have a Time Warner Cable package and you don't get the Outdoor Channel, you can learn how to do with a few simple steps. Find out if an outdoor channel is available in your area. Go to the Outdoor Channel website (see Resources). Enter your zip code in the search box, and then click the double arrow. The website will search to see if the Outdoor Channel is offered in your area. Register for an outdoor channel. If an outdoor channel postcode search shows that an outdoor channel is available in your area, contact Time Warner Cable's customer service department (see Resources). Ask the representative why you don't get the Outdoor Channel with your Time Warner Cable package. Most likely, you will need to upgrade your cable package to access the channel. Sometimes, though, there is a glitch in the program that keeps you from watching the channel. Petition for the Outdoor Channel. If the Outdoor Channel is not available in your area or Time Warner Cable doesn't offer an Outdoor Channel in your area, start a petition to get the Outdoor Channel. If you can create a petition that shows sufficient interest in your area of the Outdoor Channel, both Outdoor Channel and Time Warner Cable can assess the cost-effectiveness of adding channels to the area. The petition will require three columns: one for a printed word, one for an e-mail message and one for a signature. Advertise your petition at community events, websites, and neighbors and friends. Contact the company again, as you did in step 2, to notify your petitioning representative. If you can prove with your petition that the majority of time Warner Cable customers want an Outdoor Channel, you may be able to convince the company to add a channel. Tonight, we'll watch Homeland online to see if Carrie Mathison will save her country again in the series finale. The showtime drama concludes its eighth and final season on Sunday night, with Carrie (Claire Danes) once again working to dispel explosive situations with far-reaching consequences. Homeland first premiered in 2011. The tense, propulsive spy thriller centers on Carrie Mathison, a brilliant but troubled CIA agent. In the first season, the story focused on her complicated relationship with Nicholas Brody (Damien Lewis), back prisoner of war, who Carrie suspects turned his al-Qaeda captors. Later in the season Carrie around the world – Beirut, Kabul, Berlin, Russia – as she and mentor Saul Berenson (Mandy Patinkin) teamed up with other employees such as Quinn (Rupert Friend) and Max (Maury Sterling) to solve high-stakes security crises, unravel political plots and battle international intrigue. In the series finale episode titled Prisoners of War, Carrie is trying to make a deal to get the flight recorder out of a helicopter crash that claimed U.S. President Warner and Aghan President Daoud.Homeland's start time, channelThe Homeland series finale live starting soon, 9 p.m. .m.
